History GCSE

Why should you study history?

1. You learn useful skills for any job

3. You understand people better

2. It helps you understand the world today

4. You become a better critical thinker

What current students at Armthorpe say about GCSE History.

I like learning about the places and what different people are like in that time period

I study history because it can help me get my law degree and get me into the course I wish to study after school.

I like to learn about what has led us to how the world is like today and how things have improved.

I like to learn about the past and how it shapes the future.
